

Short Twitter Alignment Tests

Gabe Doyle

Monday, July 20, 2015

Loading the most recent results.

Some basic info about the data:

```
nrow(d)
```

```
[1] 30128
```

```
head(d,2)
```

```
ba nba bna nbna vspeak vreply      sid      rid category  pyalign
1:   1   0   1  198   TRUE  FALSE 405728790 2277260708      get 4.204693
2:   1   1   1  184   TRUE  FALSE 73171449 916612646      go 3.844814
reciprocity      dnm
1:           TRUE 0.9900000
2:           TRUE 0.4893048
```

```
tail(d,2)
```

```
ba nba bna nbna vspeak vreply      sid      rid category  pyalign
1:   1  82 103   61   TRUE  FALSE 308297673 916612646      a -3.281907
2:   1 133   5    4   TRUE  FALSE 310072711 1565483796      i -3.613372
reciprocity      dnm
1:           FALSE -0.40900444
2:           FALSE -0.03449536
```

Calculating alignments in R to check against the python alignments; stop if the summary has a max absolute